Can you imagine if your child required long-term hospitalization?

Jeff & Kristin Tracy are raising money to fund the new American Family Children's Hospital sibling care center and to name it 'Tyler's Place' in memory of their son.

Tyler's Place

Tyler's Place is a unique area in the American Family Children's Hospital where siblings can interact with other brothers and sisters while their sibling is in the hospital.

Tyler's Place is a supervised area, keeping families close together and helping support siblings by providing therapeutic activities and socialization with other siblings.

Parents can then give their full attention to their hospitalized child's care while brothers and sisters participate in structured activities with peers of their own age. It is located on Wisconsin Avenue in the American Family Children's Hospital, room 1425.

Sibling Services

When a brother or sister is hospitalized, it can be a confusing and overwhelming experience for a sibling. To help siblings understand the hospital environment, preparation is available before the brother or sister visits your hospitalized child.

Opportunities for therapeutic play, peer interaction, coping strategies and support can be provided to the sibling throughout your child's stay at American Family Children's Hospital.

Helping Siblings Cope

No sibling should ever feel overlooked, uncared for, or abandoned because their brother or sister is hospitalized. Through Tyler's Place, negative feelings are diffused, and both parents and siblings are able to maintain and foster healthy family relationships.

"Even though Tyler has since passed away, Kristin and I are very excited that the new children's hospital has a sibling care center," says Tyler's father, Jeff. "Without question, the doctors, the staff and the expertise are truly world-class. What the new hospital provides – is the space and modern facilities patients and families need to heal better."

"Every little bit of relief and hope you can give a family with a hospitalized child is worth its weight in gold," Jeff added.

Families lucky enough to have healthy children may never give it a moment's thought. But, just imagine having your life turned upside-down by a child that requires long-term hospitalization. Who goes to work? Who stays at the hospital? And what about taking care of your other kids?

This was our reality when our son, Tyler (pictured with sister above) was diagnosed with a rare, incurable metabolic disorder. Our family, including Tyler's siblings McKayla and Austin, often felt like permanent residents during our many days and nights at UW Children's Hospital. Tyler lost his battle with PDHC deficiency in 2003 after just 17 months. In Tyler's memory, we pledged to help provide supervised care and counseling for the siblings of patients at the new American Family Children's Hospital. The new sibling center is a lovely, nurturing room with hospital staff and counseling available to help brothers and sisters through this time when their parents can't be with them. A lighthouse that serves as a 'beacon of hope' marks the entrance. This year we are pleased to present our fifth annual Tyler's Place Golf Outing fundraiser – "The Beacon of Hope Open." The 18-hole golf scramble is on Monday, June 15th beginning at noon at University Ridge Golf Course. Afterwards the golfers will be joined by more guests for a spectacular silent auction and outdoor dinner buffet. On behalf of the Tyler Tracy Foundation and the friends and families currently being served by Tyler's Place, we are writing to ask your support for, and participation in, this event. Thank you for your consideration!
